Boyer, Inc. becomes new distributor for AUSA equipment

HOUSTON - Boyer, Inc. has recently become a distributor for the equipment manufacturer AUSA. Through Boyer's commitment to service and vast knowledge of equipment capabilities, these two companies hope to form a strong partnership in the compact equipment market.

"We have used AUSA equipment for many years in almost every division of our company," said Mark L. Boyer, president, Boyer, Inc. "Their equipment is unique in that it is compact, rugged and can go places that conventional equipment can't."

Boyer, Inc. will sell a complete line of AUSA equipment at its northwest Houston facility where it also plans to offer parts and service. Its staff of equipment experts and skilled mechanics will perform warranty work and repairs as well as ship parts to customers all over the US.

AUSA equipment is manufactured in Spain with U.S. operations based in Coral Gables, Fla. Its equipment includes a wide range of products from the TASK M50 4x4 utility vehicle to rigid and articulating site dumpers with capacities of more than seven cubic yards. Its rough-terrain forklifts vary from two-wheel to four-wheel drive with capacities ranging from 2500 to 8000 lbs.
